Disaster Preparation Tips for Renters

8 Tips for Apartment Preparedness

1. Make sure to have renter's insurance. Renter's insurance is the safest way to make sure you are covered if something were to happen in your apartment. It is also one of the most affordable types of insurance to have.

2. Take inventory on a regular basis. The only way to prove what items you own is by keeping an up-to-date inventory of your belongings. Set a goal of taking pictures of new items every 3-6 months.

3. Meet your neighbors. If a disaster were to happen, it’s helpful to know the people around you when it does. Knowing names could help if a search and rescue were necessary.

4. Make a kit. Having a disaster kit is key to disaster preparation. Worried about the cost and space of a kit? Ask a neighbor if they have extra space, or put your kit in the bottom of your closet.

5. Know where shelter is. Does your apartment have a staircase that leads to the unknown? Take the time to see where all stairs lead and know if your building has a basement or underground area built in.

6. Have a plan. Make sure you know where to meet your friends or roommates if something were to happen. Alert your neighbors of your plan to evacuate if an emergency would occur.

7. Sign up for CODERED. CODERED is a county-wide system that alerts you via home or cell phone when a storm is near you. The system is based on your address, so you will get location specific information each time.

8. Volunteer for the MRC. Once you have your apartment prepared for a disaster, think about volunteering for the Medical Reserve Corps. Whether you have a medical background or are just a student, there is a place for everyone to help during an emergency.

Simple Tips for Taking Inventory

When taking inventory of your belongings, it’s important to be as specific as possible. Here are a few tips to make the process a breeze:

- Make a list of your belongs with details about each item.
- Create a log book of serial numbers and receipts for big items
- Take photographs of everything possible.
- Review the policy focusing on limits and deductibles.
- Update your list at least once a year (Update more frequently if you are purchasing new items like TVS or computers).
- Tag or engrave more common items like your bicycle with your name; that way if it is lost or stolen the odds of retrieving it are higher.
- Always make sure to renew your policy if you are still renting.
